First Fruits Community Allotment & Orchard

An Account of this Year's Trials and Triumphs

This year on the community allotment began with a cold spring and was then followed by a very hot and dry summer.

We ran out of water halfway through and although the potatoes were noticeably smaller, we still managed to produce a substantial number of courgettes — over three hundred and eighty.

The blackberries and loganberries were early and good. Unfortunately, the raspberries did not do well and more canes are to be planted. The fig, after looking like a complete failure in the middle of the summer, came through, to everyone's amazement, with an astonishingly good crop.

The asparagus gave us a handful of spears this year and we continue to battle to repel the weeds without the use of chemicals. This goes for all the allotment and orchard, which we strive to manage organically.

We had good crops of garlic, broad beans and sweetcorn. The pumpkins and squashes have come out well in time for Halloween.

The grape vine produced some lovely grapes and the rhubarb that was forced earlier was very tasty. We also got some nice plums and green/yellow gages. We decided this year not to produce any apple juice or cider and instead just eat or cook the apples.

Works were completed to improve the state of the water butts, which are now on much firmer foundations.

GREEN CROSS CODE

Helping Children Stay Safe

At school, children learn important road safety skills. These skills work best when we all practise them every day with parents, carers and family members too.

Remember the Green Cross Code

1. Stop at the kerb.

2. Look and listen for traffic.

3. Look right, left and right again.

4. Wait until it is safe to cross.

5. Keep looking and listening while you cross.

6. Walk straight across the road – do not run.

Children learn by watching adults – please set a good example every time you cross the road.

Let's work together to help every child become a safer, more confident pedestrian.

FLOOD AND COASTAL RISK MANAGEMENT

GUIDE TO RIPARIAN LANDOWNERS

The following guidance provides all landowners with information detailing their responsibilities for maintaining watercourses on or adjacent to their land, to help reduce flood risk to their own and surrounding land, properties and businesses.

What is a watercourse?

A watercourse is any natural or artificial channel where water flows, such as a river, brook, ditch, cut, stream or culvert (underground structure that water can flow through). It can be above or below ground and does not have to contain water all year round.

Landowners with a 'watercourse' on or adjacent to their land are called 'riparian landowners' and have a responsibility to maintain these watercourses. Most riparian owners are responsible for maintenance of the bank on their side, and to the centre line across the bottom of the watercourse, regardless of any boundary fence, wall, treeline or hedge.

Riparian Responsibilities

As a riparian landowner you have a responsibility to prevent flooding to properties, the highway and the surrounding land by allowing the natural flow of a watercourse through or adjacent to your land.

Your legal duties are to:

- Let water flow through your land without any obstruction, pollution or diversion which affects how others receive the water in the end.
- Keep any approved structures that you own, clear of debris. Examples include culverts, trash screens, weirs and mill gates. This may require professional contractors, please do ask for advice from the councils Flood and Coastal Risk Management team.
- Maintain the bed and banks of the watercourse (including the trees and shrubs growing on the banks). You are responsible for clearing and removing any obstructions and litter in the watercourse, regardless of where they came from.
- Consent will be required from the relevant enforcing authority, if you wish to complete any temporary or permanent work on a watercourse that encroaches or alters the flow of the watercourse and prevents the free passage of fish. Examples include culverts, bridges and board walks.

If you do not carry out your responsibilities, you could face legal action from the relevant enforcing and consenting authority. These include East Riding of Yorkshire Council, the Environment Agency and local Internal Drainage Boards who all have permissive powers to carry out maintenance. All authorities have legal power under the Land Drainage Act 1991.

Further details can be found online on the following websites:

FLOOD ALLEVIATION SCHEME UPDATE

East Riding of Yorkshire Council has provided an update on the proposed flood alleviation scheme.

There are currently no public engagement events or drop-in sessions scheduled. Subject to the project's progress, any future public engagement is expected to take place during mid-2027, in line with the anticipated submission of a planning application.

Work on the project continues to progress behind the scenes. Detailed ground investigations have now been completed, with groundwater monitoring and reporting continuing. The baseline hydraulic model has also been updated, while a range of additional site investigations have been undertaken. Ecological surveys and environmental monitoring remain ongoing.

ERYC have contacted all affected landowners to discuss the proposals, and landowner considerations will continue to be taken into account as the detailed design develops. Preparation of the pre-planning application is also continuing.

South Cave Parish Council will continue to share updates with residents as further information becomes available and any future public engagement events are confirmed.

Volunteers Needed!

Help us make South Cave's roads safer for everyone.

South Cave Parish Council is looking for local volunteers to join our Community Speedwatch team to help monitor vehicle speeds within the village.

What is Community Speedwatch?

1. Volunteers receive training from Humberside Police.
2. Speed monitoring is carried out in agreed locations using approved equipment.
3. Details of offending vehicles are sent to Humberside Police.
4. They review the information and may take further action, which can include a warning letter or a fine.

What can be reported?

- Speeding
- Dangerous or careless driving
- Using a mobile phone while driving
- Driving without due care and attention
- Ignoring traffic signs or red lights
- Anti-social driving (e.g. excessive noise, revving, racing)
- Other road traffic offences
